DESCRIPTION

This workshop room in the heart of Kreuzberg is the perfect space for your offsite activities on a budget.

As a sharing economy startup, we at Spacebase live what we preach and rent out our very own room. The venue is located in a typical startup office in the backyard of an old industrial building. While the outside looks rough, the room itself is warm and welcoming.

The room features a large desk in the middle that can be separated and a breakout area with lounge chairs.

When you book this meeting room in Berlin you have access to a simple equipped kitchen where you can help yourself to some drinks and snacks. Water is included in the booking, if you wish for any added drinks such as coffee or cold refreshments you are more than welcome to book them for a small extra charge. The kitchen is shared with another adjoining workshop space. In addition, you can book breakfast, lunch or an afternoon snack. See the "Extras" section. You can also bring your own catering and use our dishes.

In the "Extras" section you can see what you can add to your booking, such as Flipcharts, Whiteboards, Facilitator Box, etc.

You are more than welcome to book over the weekend, please keep in mind that there is no cleaning service on the weekends and we are only personally at the location during our office hours.
